

DAWN FARM EDUCATION SERIES PRESENTS

a FREE presentation by

DR. KEVIN MCCAULEY

A rising science of recovery and recovery management, astonishing new brain research, and innovative local and national policies are emerging from the rubble of the Drug War and its decades of zero tolerance and mass incarceration. A battered but resilient American demographic of recovering men and women, formerly living in the shadows, are coming together to define themselves, and become a people.

Dr. McCauley will recognize this moment in history and compare it to other challenges of health disparity and social inequality; review the rising science of recovery and explore concepts of recovery management; and elucidate this "Third Way" for new government policy and consider the challenges it entails; explore innovative local and national policies which hold the promise of preventing addiction before it starts, treating it on a scale never before seen in the US, and re-enfranchising a battered but resilient American demographic.

EMERGING FROM THE DARKNESS: THE END OF THE DRUG WAR AND THE RISE OF RECOVERY TUESDAY, APRIL 20, 2017 7:30PM - 9:00PM

Reception from 6:30 to 7:30 pm, with snacks, beverages and the opportunity to meet and socialize.

Kevin McCauley is a graduate of Drexel University Medical School and co-founder of the Institute for Addiction Study. From 2009 to 2013, Dr. McCauley was the Director of Le Mont, a sober living/recovery management program in Utah, and helped form the Utah Association of Recovery Residences. His DVD "Pleasure Unwoven" won the 2010 NAATP Michael Q. Ford journalism award.

St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Education Center
5305 Elliott Drive, Ypsilanti, Michigan

Registration is not required. A certificate of attendance can be provided. FREE C.E. (1.5 hours) for addiction professionals (NAADAC and MCBAP Approved Education Provider). For other details, contact Dawn Farm at 734.485.8725 or www.dawnfarm.org.